

Axial Heat Flux: Task 11

The image describes a rectangular body with an imposed heat flux on the left, at the remaining surfaces heat is transported via convection.

1

The imposed heat flux yields a positive profile.

2

Convection causes the specific heat flux to decrease. Due to temperature loss less heat is convected towards the right.

3

Convection at the wall leads to a positive specific heat flux.